THE PARLIAMENTS
OF ENGLAND,

FROM 1ST GEORGE I., TO THE PRESENT TIME.

BY HENRY STOOKS SMITH.

VOL. II.

OXFORDSHIRE TO WALES INCLUSIVE.

LONDON:
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL, & CO.,

1845.

D. I. ROEBUCK, PRINTER, LEEDS.

To the numerous Gentlemen who have contributed new matter and corrections, the Compiler tenders his best acknowledgements. In addition to the names mentioned in the First Volume, he has to add another, from whom he has received very great assistance, namely, W. H. COOKE, Esq., of the Temple.

In all cases where blanks are found, the Compiler needs only state that proofs have been sent to individuals most likely to possess information on the subject, in every town, and the type has been kept standing for their return, in some cases as long as six weeks, without success; for instance, Stafford, to which place applications were made to nine parties for information, and to some of them twice, yet not a single answer of any kind was received.

To the numerous Gentlemen who have contributed new matter and corrections, the Compiler tender his best acknowledgments. In addition to the names mentioned in the First Volume, he has to add another, from whom he has received very great assistance, namely,
W. H. Cochrane, Esq., of the Temple.

In all cases where blanks are found, the Compiler needs only state that the person has been sent to individuals most likely to possess information on the subject, in every town, and the type has been kept standing until the return, in some cases as long as six weeks, without error.
The names and stations to which place applications were made to rise to assist for information, and to some of them twice, yet not a single answer of any kind was received.

* TO THE WORTHY AND INDEPENDENT ELECTORS OF THE BOROUGH OF WOODSTOCK.

GENTLEMEN,

My excellent and valued friend Mr. Thesiger, has been appointed to the office of Solicitor General, and has, consequently, vacated his seat for your borough. Has the station which he has been called upon to fill in her Majesty's councils rendered him less worthy to be your representative? If not, why is he not here? Is it because his seat is wanted¹ for a young Lord just out of his teens? Let the noble owner of Blenheim answer this question.

I come to rescue you from the thralldom which your hard taskmaster would impose upon you; and, by God's blessing and your assistance, I shall succeed.

My political principles are those of the Solicitor General; my profession is the same as his; and though I have not attained the same distinction in it which he so deservedly possesses, yet my position is such as I can reflect on with honest pride.

From another friend of mine and yours also, your Recorder, I have received letters of introduction to those of you to whom I am at present unknown. I hope to be able to present them to each of you at your several homes; but as the time is so short before the day of nomination arrives, let me beg of you to meet me at the Town Hall to-morrow (Saturday), at six in the evening, when I shall be happy to explain to you more fully than I can do at present the grounds upon which I seek your votes.

All I ask is,—A fair field, and no favour; and may God defend the right.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours very faithfully,
L. C. HUMFREY.

Temple, Friday, April 19, 1844.

* MR. BURKE'S SPEECH ON DECLINING THE POLL.

GENTLEMEN,

I decline the Election.—It has ever been my rule through life, to observe a proportion between my efforts and my objects. I have never been remarkable for a bold, active, and sanguine pursuits of advantages that are personal to myself.

I have not canvassed the whole of this city in form. But I have taken such a view of it as satisfies my own mind, that your choice will not ultimately fall upon me. Your city, gentlemen, is in a state of miserable distraction; and I am resolved to withdraw whatever share my pretensions may have had in its unhappy divisions. I have not been in haste; I have tried all prudent means; I have waited for the effect of all contingencies. If I were fond of a contest, by the partiality of my numerous friends (whom you know to be among the most weighty and respectable people of the city) I have the means of a sharp one in my hands. But I thought it far better with my strength unspent, and my reputation unimpaired, to do, early and from foresight, that which I might be obliged to do from necessity at last.

I am not in the least surprised, nor in the least angry at this view of things. I have read the book of life for a long time, and I have read other books a little. Nothing has happened to me, but what has happened to men much better than me, and in times and in nations full as good as the age and country that we live in. To say that I am no way concerned, would be neither decent nor true. The representation of Bristol was an object on many accounts dear to me; and I certainly should very far prefer it to any other in the kingdom. My habits are made to it; and it is in general more unpleasant to be rejected after long trial, than not to be chosen at all.

But, gentlemen, I will see nothing except your former kindness, and I will give way to no other sentiments than those of gratitude. From the bottom of my heart I thank you for what you have done for me. You have given me a long term, which is now expired. I have performed the conditions, and enjoyed all the profits to the full; and I now surrender your estate into your hands, without being in a single tile or a single stone impaired or wasted by my use. I have served the public for fifteen years. I have served you in particular for six. What is passed is well stored. It is safe, and out of the power of fortune. What is to come, is in wiser hands than ours; and he, in whose hands it is, best knows whether it is best for you and me that I should be in parliament, or even in the world.

Gentlemen, the melancholy event of yesterday reads to us an awful lesson against being too much troubled about any of the objects of ordinary ambition. The worthy gentleman, who has been snatched from us at the moment of the election, and in the middle of the contest, whilst his desires were as warm, and his hopes as eager as ours, has feelingly told us, what shadows we are, and what shadows we pursue.

It has been usual for a candidate who declines, to take his leave by a letter to the sheriffs; but I received your trust in the face of day; and in the face of day I accept your dismission. I am not,—I am not at all ashamed to look upon you; nor can my presence discompose the order of business here. I humbly and respectfully take my leave of the sheriffs, the candidates, and the electors; wishing heartily that the choice may be for the best, at a time which calls, if ever time did call, for service that is not nominal. It is no plaything you are about. I tremble when I consider the trust I have presumed to ask. I confided perhaps too much in my intentions. They were really fair and upright; and I am bold to say, that I ask no ill thing for you, when on parting from this place I pray that whomever you chuse to succeed me, he may resemble me exactly in all things, except in my abilities to serve, and my fortune to please you.

* The evidence given by the Returning Officer, Mr. Hugh Roberts, before the Committee, was the means of bringing to light a most singular system of wholesale bribery, carried on by a body of Electors, who styled themselves, the "Christian Society", and who had for some time being in the habit of selling seats to the highest bidders. By 11th Geo. III. C. 55, the whole of the members, amounting to 81, were deprived of the right of again voting at any Parliamentary Election, and the old class of voters disfranchised, the right of election being extended to the 40s. * Immediately after the Parliament elected in 1818 had assembled in 1819, a petition was presented to the House of Commons, complaining, in the usual terms, that gross bribery and corruption had been practised in the return of the two Members for the Borough of Grampound, in Cornwall. In the course of the Session the matter was minutely investigated, and the alleged guilt incontrovertibly proved. The course of procedure in such cases was to pass an act disfranchising the place convicted, and transferring the right so abused and forfeited, to some other body of Electors. It devolved upon Lord John Russell, who had conducted the proceedings in the House of Commons, which confirmed the charge of gross bribery and corruption against Grampound, to originate a Bill for the above purpose. On the meeting of the New Parliament, April 27th, Lord J. Russell gave notice that he should bring in his promised Bill for disfranchising Grampound and transferring the privilege to Leeds. The Bill was accordingly brought in on the 8th of May, and was framed so as to extend the right of voting to all Householders rated at and over £5 per annum, which it was estimated would constitute a body of, at least 8,000 Electors for the Borough. When the principle of the measure came under discussion, on the 19th of the same month, Mr. Beaumont, one of the Members for Northumberland, suggested that the County of York should be divided into two Counties, one consisting of the West Riding and the other of the North and East Ridings combined; and, that instead of giving two Representatives to Leeds, they should be granted to either of these divisions.—Mr. Wynn, the President of the Board of Control, objected to such an arrangement, but was the first to recommend that the two new Members should be transferred to the County of York, in addition to the two it already returned. The decision of the question, however, was reserved till the Bill came before a Committee of the House. In the mean time the attention of Parliament became so much engrossed with the return of Queen Caroline to England, and the proceedings consequent upon that occurrence, as to induce Lord Russell, on the 28th of June, after several previous postponements of the subject, to withdraw the Bill till the next Session. The Legislature had no sooner assembled in January, 1821, than he again introduced his Bill into the House of Commons, and fixed the second reading of it for the 12th of February. When the latter period arrived, Mr. Beaumont renewed his suggestion, that the two Members should be given to the West Riding of Yorkshire, instead of the Borough of Leeds; upon which a division took place. The numbers were, for the amendment 66, against it 126, leaving a majority of 60 in favour of the measure proposed by Lord John Russell. The Bill, as introduced this Session, so far deviated from that of the previous year as to confer the Elective franchise upon the Mayor and Corporation of Leeds, and all Householders within the Borough, assessed at not less than Ten Pounds, instead of Five Pounds per annum to the poor and parish rates. This provision, it was found on examination, would still have thrown the right of returning members, chiefly into the hands of the inferior classes, and necessarily have fostered those impure and unprincipled practices, notoriously prevalent in places similarly privileged. Mr. J. A. S. Wortley, to remedy this defect, moved, when the Bill was in Committee, on the 2d of March, that the qualification should be limited to Householders rated at not less than Twenty Pounds per annum. Before the question was put, Lord Milton requested leave to move first, that the franchise be extended to all persons paying scot and lot, and the Committee having divided accordingly, there were, for this amendment 68, against it 182, leaving a clear majority opposed to his Lordship, of 114. The question on Mr. Wortley's motion was then put, when the numbers were, in favour of it 148, against it 94, majority 54. So essential an alteration having, in Lord John Russell's opinion, thus been made in the principle of the Bill, he declined to carry it further through the Legislature. Mr. Wortley, in consequence, took upon himself that duty, and in its amended form the Bill passed the House of Commons and was forwarded to the House of Lords.

When the merits of the measure came under discussion in the Upper House, May 10, 1821, on the second reading, several propositions were made for obviating the objections suggested. One, as in the Commons, was, that the County of York should be divided into two Representative districts, each to return Two Members—and that the West Riding should form the first district, and the East and North Ridings, united, constitute the second. The Earl of Liverpool recommended that the County should remain undivided, and that henceforth it should return Four, instead of Two Members, to the Imperial Parliament. This latter amendment met with the general approbation of the House of Lords, and was substituted for the provision in the Bill, which granted the right of returning Two Members to the Borough of Leeds. The measure so altered eventually passed that branch of the Legislature—was afterwards agreed to by the House of Commons; and, having received the Royal assent, became the Law of the Land.

* From the noon of Wednesday, the second polling day, until six in the evening, a mob of not less than 500 ruffians, made a general attack on the dwellings of the most active supporters of Mr. Wortley. At the Blucher Inn a blue flag was hauled down and the staff converted into bludgeons; the White Horse, Southgate; the Shakespeare Tavern; the White Swan Inn; the Talbot, (in which every window was broken); Mr. Lister's, the auctioneer; the Vicarage, where much damage was done; the Three Pigeons; Mr. Staveley's, Beanfield, windows broken and other damage done; Christopher Rawson's, Esq., Hope-house, windows, &c. broken; Mr. J. Rawson's, the Shay, windows, furniture, &c. broken; Mr. J. Holdsworth's, Shaw-hill, windows broken, house rifled. Hence they directed their course to Mr. J. E. Norris's, Saville-hall, where the dining and drawing rooms were both broken into and rifled, and the furniture, books, &c., scattered over the lawn and garden: some valuable paintings were also destroyed, and silver-plate stolen: for the latter no compensation could be recovered from the wapentake. The mob then proceeded to the Bee-hive, in King Cross Lane, where they broke the windows; thence, through the town, to Mr. Atkinson's spirit-shop, North Bridge, where they also broke the windows.

On Monday, February 10, a special session was held in the magistrates' office for the purpose of deciding upon the claims for compensation for damage done not exceeding thirty pounds. The following is a list of the claimants who had given the usual notices, and whose claims were considered by the magistrates assembled:—Joseph

On Tuesday the 10th March, a court was held at York-castle, before William Gray, jun. Esq. under Sheriff, for the assessment of damages suffered by other parties, owing to the riots. The following cases were disposed of:—

Sum Assessed.

Norris, gent. v The inhabitants of Agbrigg and Morley	£799
Holdsworth, v. the same	230
Staveley and others, v. the same	240
Musgrave, v. the same	80
Sugden, v the same	90
Metcalfe, v. the same	133

On the 31st March, another court was holden, when the remainder were disposed of:—

Rawson, C. Esq. v. the inhabitants of Agbrigg and Morley	73	9	11
Rawson, J. v. the same	250	0	0
Carr, v. the same	124	12	7
Sutcliffe, v. the same	45	0	0

From the foregoing facts, it would appear that the ruling passion of the mob was an insatiable love of mischief; and it cannot be disputed, from the evidence produced on these enquiries, that had any thing like an efficient and organized police force been directed to act with vigour and effect at the first breaking out of the disturbance, the mob might have been effectually dispersed; but unfortunately encouraged by non-resistance, they increased in strength until the constabulary force of the town, (which was never brought to bear upon them until the mischief was done,) was of little or no avail.

* TO THE ELECTORS OF THE BOROUGH OF HUDDERSFIELD.

GENTLEMEN,

The attempt which, at the request of a numerous and respectable proportion of your body, I was induced to make, with every prospect of success, to effect the Independence of Huddersfield, has by the undue exercise of the dominant Influence opposed to us, and by the withdrawal of a Party whose Support was originally tendered to me, been defeated.

To such of you as have honoured me with your Support, or had intended so to have done, if means had not been employed to deter you, and also to those of your fellow-townsmen, who, though not voters, have been equally anxious for the success of our common cause, and have zealously endeavoured to promote it, I beg leave to offer my most grateful and sincere thanks.

In conclusion, I can truly assure you, that I feel more pride in being thus defeated in our honest effort to liberate this newly created Nomination Borough from Whig thralldom, than I should have experienced in the most signal triumph purchased at the price of your Independence.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your faithful and obliged servant,

*An information was filed by the Attorney-General, at the instance of the house of Commons, against Joseph Mosey Allen, of Knaresborough, gentleman, Richard Dewse, linen-manufacturer, Thomas Abbott, weaver, William Whitehead, tailor, William Allison, auctioneer, and William Henlock, wine-merchant, for a riot at Knaresborough, on Monday, July 30, 1804, and for preventing the election of a member of parliament for that borough. The trial came on at York, on the 2nd August, 1805.

The pleadings were opened by Mr. Sinclair, and the case laid before the jury by Serjeant Cockell.

Henry Dealtry, Esq., from the crown-office, produced a copy of a writ issued to the sheriff of Yorkshire, for the election of a burgess to serve in parliament for the borough of Knaresborough, in the room of William Cavendish, Esq., and also a copy of the sheriff's precept for the said election, to be held on Monday, July 30, 1804. On the precept was an indorsement, stating, that proclamation had been made for the election to be at eleven o'clock, and it was directed to the bailiff of Knaresborough.

A great number of witnesses were examined for the prosecution, who deposed to being prevented from tendering their votes, or from entering the Hall, by the mob, who had stopped up the key hole of the Hall door, so that it could not be opened, and they also deposed that the defendants encouraged and assisted the mob. Sir John Ingilby, Bt. said, that on arriving in the market place, he found a large mob who were carrying about an effigy of Lord Duncannon, mounted on an ass, with papers before and behind, with "Ponsonby Pinchgut" on them. Allen (one of the defendants) had hold of the bridle. Several of the voters attempted to reach the Hall door, but were prevented, upon which a violent fight took place; in which several of the special constables were knocked down, and Sir John was pushed off the steps and received several blows, Abbott and Henlock were supporting the mob, of which Dewse seemed the leader, and the rest of the defendants were present.

Nineteen witnesses were called from whose testimony it appeared that Mr. Allen frequently exhorted the people to be peaceable; that the constables struck first, and that the election might have been proceeded with. The jury retired, and after a consultation of 10 minutes returned a verdict of Guilty against Allen, Dewse, and Abbott; and acquitted Allison, Whitehead, and Henlock.

1832, July, vice Mackintosh, deceased.

Hon. Wm. Ponsonby W

* Mr. Entwisle entered the town at ten o'clock on 2nd Dec., and was most warmly received by the populace, who took the horses from his carriage, and drew him through the principal streets in procession. A large blue banner was borne before him, inscribed "Success to the honest and true; success to the Bonnets of Blue."

At eleven, the respective candidates proceeded to the place of election. Mr. Powell read the writs, and administered the oath to Mr. J. Lockett as returning-officer, who said

Gentlemen, you are called upon to elect two members, by your late members having accepted offices under the Crown; and, in order that there may be no mistake, I inform you we are now proceeding upon separate precepts. So that the election will be completed upon the one, before we begin with the other. We shall proceed in the first instance with the election of a member to succeed Sir James Mackintosh.

PETER EARNSHAW, Esq., proposed Sir James Mackintosh.

Mr. WILSON, of Bolton Bridge, seconded the motion.

Mr. ROTCH. Merely that there may be no confusion, I beg leave to state that there are to be two elections instead of one; the first to elect a member in the room of Sir James Mackintosh; the other in the room of Mr. Brougham. I am interested on the part of Mr. Entwisle, and that gentleman will offer no opposition to the return of Sir James Mackintosh.

Mr. LOCKETT. Sir James Mackintosh having been moved and seconded, and understanding there will be no other candidate proposed, it becomes my duty to declare, and I do declare, that he is duly elected. (Immense cheering.)

Sir J. MACKINTOSH. Gentlemen, being duly elected as one of your representatives, I beg to return you my thanks, for the good will manifested to me on all sides. Two Parliaments have passed since I addressed you in this Hall, having been prevented by ill health, from doing what would have been gratifying to me, of paying my respects to the freeholders of Knaresbro'. My hair is, as you will see, grown greyer since I last had the honour of visiting you; but my heart remains truly British, (Cheers) and will, I trust, be so as long as I breathe. (Cheers.) I cannot but remember, that on the last occasion when I addressed you, I was second to a member whose public character stood high, and will be remembered by a grateful country, and whose private virtues and amiable character in life, will live in the affections of the people. Unfortunately you can hear Mr. Tierney no more—he whom you so frequently heard with admiration. In conclusion, he said he always considered himself bound by the strongest tie to the interests of Knaresbro'; and whoever might be the legal voters he always looked upon the householders of Knaresbro' as his constituents. (Cheers.)

Mr. POWELL then read the writ for returning a member in the room of Lord Brougham.

Mr. P. DIXON briefly proposed Lord Waterpark as a fit and proper representative of the Borough; and the motion was seconded by Mr. H. EDWARDS, of Market Weighton.

PETER EARNSHAW, Esq., proposed John Entwisle, Esq., amidst loud cheers.

B. ROTCH, Esq., seconded the nomination in an eloquent and spirit-stirring speech. He denounced the close borough system, and declared that Lord Waterpark had no claim to the confidence of the inhabitants, except being a relation to the patron of the borough ("No, no," from his Lordship.) Mr. Rotch begged pardon; he should say a connexion, and the Noble Lord would not deny that. He had not even solicited their suffrages; he had not addressed them by letter or word of mouth; he had done nothing, in fact, but act the part of nominee of the Duke of Devonshire. (Cheers.) "It may be," continued Mr. Rotch, "that his Lordship is relying upon his splendid talents, and thinks he can run away with your sense, but he who thinks he can address the people of England, without addressing their good sense, is mistaken. (Cheers.) I beseech you, if they gain a temporary victory to-day, be not dismayed. There must be an appeal elsewhere, and doubt not but in the end Mr. Entwisle will be your representative. Mr. Entwisle is a gentleman of fortune, a magistrate of the West Riding, and beloved by hundreds who live near him, and will flock round him on his return. I pray you return him, and be not defeated by trickery. Listen to our opponent's pretensions, and see if they equal Mr. Entwisle's, who says, 'I come to emancipate your borough, return me, and you shall be free.'" (Loud Cheers.)

The show of hands was greatly in favour of Mr. Entwisle.

Mr. DINMORE wished to know, if Lord Waterpark was an orator or a dumb-bell?

Lord WATERPARK demanded a poll.

A long discussion arose as to the way of voting, when it was agreed that twenty-five votes should be offered for Mr. Entwisle, and twenty for Lord Waterpark; merely to give the former a nominal majority. Twenty-three of Mr. Entwisle's voters were objected to by Mr. Powell, jun., agent to the Duke of Devonshire; amongst them was Mr. Rotch, who said, I tender my vote as holder of a burgage, under a lease that does not contain any reservation to the superior lord of the right of voting. The others were of a similar description. The objection, which was held good by the Returning Officer, was that of not being a freehold burgess, paying a rent to a superior lord.

Mr. BLANSHARD was proceeding to argue the question, when an arrangement was made to let this question go to the Commons' Committee. Twenty persons tendered their votes for Lord Waterpark, in right of freehold interest in burgage tenements.

Mr. BLANSHARD objected to these votes: amongst them was Mr. Wilson, of Bolton Bridge, who, on being cross-examined, said he claimed his right of voting by holding a deed. He did not know the contents of the deed, and never saw the burgage-house. He only received the deed that morning, and expected to deliver it up after the election. Mr. Blanshard objected to all the votes, which were given under similar claims, as having the taint of occasionalty, and the voters not being burgage holders.

The RETURNING OFFICER over-ruled the objections, and declared Lord Waterpark duly elected.

Lord WATERPARK then came forward and said—Having been declared duly elected, I now beg leave to state that I am neither deaf nor dumb, thank God. I thank you for the honour you have done me in electing me as one of your members to serve you in Parliament. (Cries of "We did not".)

At the recommendation of Mr. W. L. F. Scott, the members were not chaired. Messrs. Entwisle and Rotch however were, by the populace, amidst most uproarious applause; but there was nothing like a breach of the peace.

* The following is a copy of the inscription on the pedestal of the monument to the memory of Mr. Sadler, executed by Patrick Park, Esq., erected in the north entrance of the Leeds Parish Church :

“ MICHAEL THOMAS SADLER, F.R.S.,
Born at Doveridge, in the County of Derby,
From early youth an Inhabitant of this Town.
Endowed with great natural talents,
A fervid imagination, a feeling heart, and an enquiring mind,
He cultivated, with success, amidst the distractions of trade,
The Elegance of Polite Literature,
And the severer study of Political and Social Economy,
As exhibited in his works on “Ireland”, and the “Law of Population.”
The display, on various occasions,
Of a copious Eloquence, peculiarly his own,
In defence of the Protestant Faith,
Of the rights of humanity, and of the British Constitution,
Secured him, unsought for, a Seat in the House of Commons,
And he represented the Boroughs of Newark and Aldborough
In three successive Parliaments.
He distinguished himself in the Senate
As the bold defender of the Institutions of his Country,
And the propounder of measures
For a legal provision for the Poor of Ireland,
And for ameliorating the condition of Factory Children.
He died at Belfast, July 29th, 1835,
Aged 58 Years.
His remains rest in Ballylesson Church Yard.
By his numerous private and political friends
This memorial has been erected,
To hand down to posterity the name of a Scholar, a Patriot, and a Practical Philanthropist.”

* THE FOLLOWING LETTER IS COPIED FROM "THE TIMES" OF MARCH 6, 1845.

Mr. Mayor,

I beg to inform you that I received a letter this morning announcing the death of the Earl of Effingham, by which event Lord Howard removes into the House of Peers. As you are the returning officer for the Borough of Shaftesbury, I should, perhaps, have addressed my letter to some one else; but as you are at the head of the municipal government of the town, and as much interested in its tranquillity, and as it must be of importance to the trade and general business of the place, that it should not be agitated, if possible, by election contest and strife—it seems to me that it would be greatly advantageous, if a candidate could be selected likely to unite the suffrages of the electors, and it has occurred to me that Mr. Sheridan of Frampton—who put forward an address at the last general election, declaring a willingness to enter Parliament, and who, by some steps since taken to ameliorate the condition of the labourers, has shown a disposition to make himself useful in public matters—may be fairly viewed by any constituency in the light of an independent country gentleman, whose talents would do credit to the selection of any body of electors.

Should the leading gentlemen of Shaftesbury see the case in this light, they would, perhaps, think it desirable to make some communication to Mr. Sheridan on the subject.

Eaton, Chester, Feb. 16, 1845.

Yours, very faithfully,
GROSVENOR.
